Can you paint cabinets with a magnum airless sprayer?

Painting or staining your cabinets can completely transform the look of your kitchen, bathroom or any room in your house. Since many rooms with cabinets usually get a lot of traffic and activity, you'll want to get this project done fast. Using a Magnum airless paint sprayer will provide the fastest way to achieve a perfect finish.

Can you spray paint a kitchen cabinet?

Yes! The key: spray paint. Invest in one or two cans of spray paint; spend an hour or two on the makeover, depending on the size of your cabinet; and you'll be amazed (I certainly was) by the difference. Best of all, the project costs a mere fraction of what it would to purchase a brand-new cabinet.

Can You Spray cabinets with a cardboard sprayer?

Before spraying the cabinets, we recommend practicing on a piece of cardboard. This will allow you to fine-tune your technique and adjust the sprayer for the best spray pattern.

Can you spray paint cabinets with a 311 tip?

When spraying water-based enamel and satin finish paint, it's best to use a 311 spray tip as it will deliver a 6-inch spray fan that is perfect for cabinets and smaller doors. Before spraying the cabinets, we recommend practicing on a piece of cardboard.

How do you clean a storage unit with oil based paint?

The sheen effect of oil based paint means that grubby marks can be easily wiped off to keep your storage units sparkling clean. Apply one thin coat of gloss on top of the dried primer. If the correct color of undercoat has been used, this should provide ample coverage.

How do you spray paint a room with a sprayer?

Make sure to ventilate the room--even if it's just a fan blowing out an open window. Fill the spray container with the paint mixed with Floetrol and water. Wear a mask respirator when spray painting. Practice spray painting on cardboard, keeping the nozzle 10 to 12 inches from the surface. Here are a few tips for interior painting with a sprayer.
