What if I'm not happy with my solar panel contract?

If you've recently moved into a home with existing solar panels, you may be wondering what your options are if you're not happy with the current solar panel contract. In most cases, when purchasing a new home that already has solar panels installed, the previous owner's contract will transfer to the new homeowner.

Can a solar panel be replaced without removing the roof?

If a solar panel is still producing power, a professional might be able to replace broken glass on a panel without removing it from the roof. However, if the appearance of your solar installation is not important, and the panel is still functioning, then it might only require cosmetic repairs with no additional cost.

Are solar panels regulated at end of life?

Find information here about different types of solar panels and how they are regulated at end of life. If you are disposing of solar panels that are hazardous waste, then regulations under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) must be followed to make sure the panels are safely recycled or disposed of. Is it possible to remove solar panels?

Solar panel removal is possible. To achieve success, it's crucial to evaluate the reason for removal and choose the best approach for your situation. Solar panel removal is not as daunting as it might initially seem.

Why do homeowners regret installing solar panels?

Low-quality or poor-standard panels may cause more problems than they solve. Solar panel manufacturers often promise high output levels for their products. However, if these promises aren't met due to inferior materials or manufacturing processes, it's easy to see why homeowners regret installing solar.

What happens if a solar panel is improperly installed?

In some cases, improper installation may be grounds for contract cancellation. If you notice any issues with your solar panel system after installation - such as loose wiring or damaged equipment - contact the installer immediately. They should inspect the system and make any necessary repairs at no cost to you.
