Is installing solar panels for free a scam?

The federal government does not install residential solar panels for free; if someone is claiming otherwise, it's probably a scam. If it seems too good to be true, it probably is. If someone is promising that you'll save huge amounts of money by installing solar panels, they might be exaggerating to make a sale.

Is going solar a scam?

It's likely a scam. While there are some government-funded solar programs for households that qualify, "going solar" isn't free. Honest businesses will tell you exactly how much it'll cost to get and install solar panels. Here's how to steer clear of the scams: Do some research.

Is residential solar a scam?

When done right, going solar can substantially reduce your carbon footprint and your energy costs. However, this rare double-whammy of benefits also makes the residential solar industry ripe for scams.

How do you identify a solar panel company to avoid scams?

These tactics may include persistent calls, scare tactics, door-to-door visits, or making unfounded claims about solar benefits. Companies employing such methods prioritize sales over delivering quality service. These are the red flags to identify solar panel companies to avoid scams.
