Does FEMA pay for solar panels?

Under the program, FEMA reimburses state, tribal, territorial, and local governments 75 percent of the cost of eligible recovery efforts. That's typically been to pay for "emergency protective measures," debris removal, and to rebuild public infrastructure. Now, those funds can also go toward installing solar panels and energy-efficient appliances.

Some so-called officials even say your utility company already signed you up for the program, so now you need to pay. That is, of course, also a scam. To protect yourself from clean energy scams: Know that "free" or
